1 TRANSFER CREDITS

UoPeople may accept transfer credits from both accredited U.S. and non-U.S. institutions. You can apply for transfer credits if you are an applicant or an existing student at UoPeople. We recommend that you transfer your credits as soon as possible. This will allow your Learning Pathway to adjust and remain as accurate as possible.

Note that UNIV 1001 cannot be substituted by transferred credits and must be taken at UoPeople. All undergraduate students must complete this course to be considered a Degree Seeking Student (DSS).

Maximum Transferrable Credits

ASSOCIATE

Upto 45 credits (75%)

BACHELOR'S

Upto 90 credits (75%)

MASTER'S

Upto 18 credits (50%)

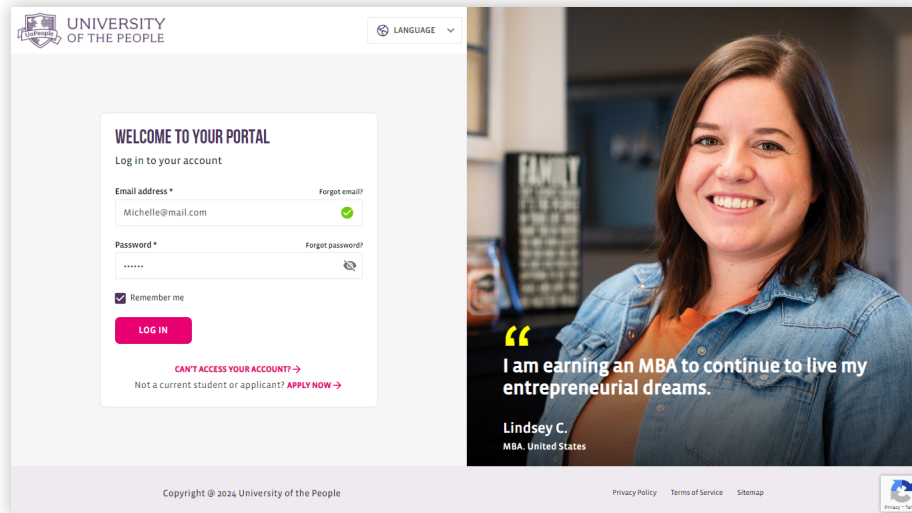

2 CREDIT REQUIREMENTS

- UoPeople only accepts official transcripts when evaluating transfer requests. If you're unsure whether or not your transcripts are official, reach out to your program advisor.
- For a course to be eligible for transfer credit, the following criteria must be met:
 - The course final grade must be equivalent to a C or above. If it is a Pass or Fail grade, it will be evaluated on an individual level.
 - The course credits should have been earned from an accredited institution and can be considered an equivalent (equivalent course content) or an elective (non-equivalent course content).
- For undergraduate degrees, UoPeople accepts transfer credits from higher education courses as well as transfer credits from the following:
 - Advanced Placement (AP)
 - College Level Examination Program (CLEP)
 - International Baccalaureate (IB)
 - American Council on Education (ACE) members
 - Sophia Learning
 - StraighterLine
 - Study.com
 - UPI Study
 - National College Credit Recommendation Service (NCCRS)
 - Courses taken through Total Testing (Total Testing International via Coopersmith exams which are evaluated by NCCRS)
- For graduate degrees, transfer credits will only be considered from graduate-level courses.
- UoPeople currently does NOT accept the following credits for transfer:
 - Remedial Credits
 - Experiential Credit
 - Continuing Education Units

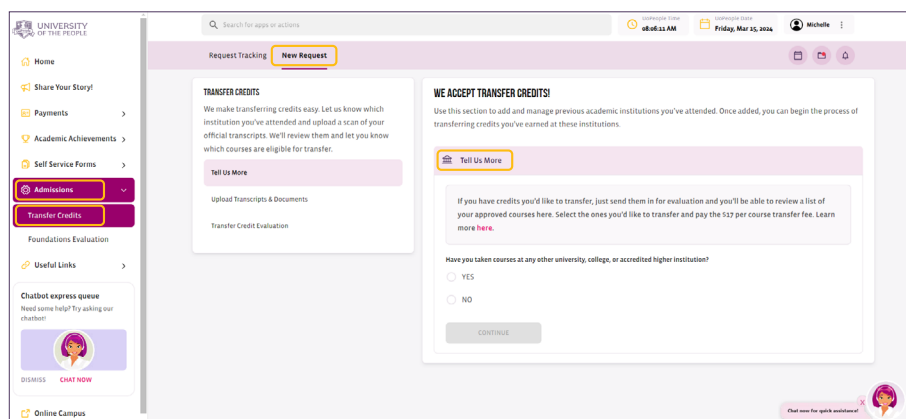

Acceptance of transfer credits is at the University's discretion. Meeting minimum requirements does not guarantee credit transfer. For more information on transferring credits, please see the UoPeople Catalog for undergraduate and graduate students.

3 HOW TO SUBMIT A TRANSFER CREDIT EVALUATION REQUEST:

1. Log in to the UoPeople Portal.

2. Click 'Admissions' on the left-hand side and select the 'Transfer Credits' space. Then go to the 'New Request' page to fill in the details of your higher education credits in the 'Tell Us More' section.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

I understand that I won't be able to revisit this page to upload additional documents until my request has been reviewed by the Transfer Credit office.

☒ I acknowledge that the transfer of approved credits is contingent upon receiving payment.

SUBMIT REQUEST

7. Once your request has been processed, we will notify you via email and you can view your transfer credit evaluation status on the 'Request Tracking' page of the UoPeople Portal. Transfer evaluations usually takes approximately 72 hours. Please note: UoPeople is currently experiencing delays in credit transfer processing times. We apologize for any inconvenience.

IMPORTANT NOTE:

1. UoPeople accepts transcripts from both U.S. and non-U.S. institutions. For U.S. institutions, we require students to send an official transcript that includes the courses the student would like to transfer.
2. If you have earned credits from institutions outside the U.S., you will need to provide an official or notarized transcript as well as a course-by-course evaluation conducted by an international credit evaluation agency with NACES or AICE membership.
3. For non-collegiate courses, you will need to submit an official record or transcript from credit-granting organization (Example: ACE, NCCRS, IB). Any non-English documents must be accompanied by a translated and notarized version.

4 REQUESTING AND PAYING FOR TRANSFER CREDITS

1. There is no cost to submit a Transfer Credit Evaluation Request. Once the evaluation is complete, you can return to the 'Request Tracking' page of the UoPeople Portal and select which of the approved courses you'd like to have transferred. UoPeople charges a Transfer Course Fee of $17 for each course you request to have transferred.
 - a. Students transferring an associate degree from one of our Academic Partners can transfer up to 20 courses (60 credits) at no cost.
 - i. All credits earned towards a completed associate degree are eligible for the Transfer Course Fee waiver.
 - ii. This includes courses transferred from other institutions to the school where the degree was earned.
 - b. Other UoPeople Learning Partnerships may include transfer credit fee waivers as well. Details on partnerships can be found on the UoPeople Partner webpage. Questions about UoPeople Learning Partnerships can be directed to the Learning Partnerships Team: partnerships@uopeople.edu.
 - c. If you have already submitted a Transfer Course Evaluation Request and wish to transfer approved credits, you'll need to pay all associated fees within seven days of approval. Any unresolved requests will be closed at the end of the term.
2. To transfer credits as a student at UoPeople, you must submit the Transfer Credit Evaluation Request on the UoPeople Portal at least one day before the registration period closes. Once approved, any associated transfer fees must be paid within seven days.
3. Credits will appear on your degree audit once all Transfer Course Fees are paid ($17 per requested course to be transferred). This process may take a few weeks. You can check your status on the 'Request Tracking' page under the 'Transfer Credit' space, found under the 'Admissions' tab in the UoPeople Portal.

TRANSFERRING YOUR CREDIT

4. Transferred courses will be reflected in your Learning Pathway once Transfer Course Fees ($17 per requested course to be transferred) are paid and processed and you've completed your first credit bearing course (not including Foundations courses). You will then receive your official degree audit showing how your transfer credits were applied toward your program's degree requirements. All degree requirements can be found in the UoPeople Catalog. You can check for transfer updates under the 'Past' tab of the 'Your Courses' section.
